TRADE IN THE FAR EAST AND AMERICAN COMPETITION.

The Hongkong correspondent of a New Or leans paper writes as follows on the above sub

He is satisfied with one half or one quarter of the profit demanded by the latter. lives economically and pays his clerks and other employes a monthly wage smaller than the weekly one paid to Europeans. Were it not for his singular aversion to modern systems banking and finance and his seeming inability master the intricacies of exchange, he would day control the markets of China. As it is, h eaves his European competitor to attend this part of the business, and even then undersells him in the same market.

Second -The Chineses buyer has been deseived so often by the adulterator and imitator that he has lost much of his former confidence in foreign goods. English woollens and cottons were once prime favourites, but as the quality depreciated and the practice of weighing dissues increased, they lost favour. American goods then came into prominence and for a considerable period led the market. The unscrupulous dealer marks on the flimsiest products of Lancashire The profit from the fraud was large at first. It fell away as did the prestige of the goods themselves. In this practice of counterfaiting American trade-marks, it grieves me to state that American merchants were just as bad as Euro are British subjects either by birth or naturpeans. Both initiated and continued the practice, and to add insult to injury, b th taught the Chinese jobbers how to do the same thing likewise. Third .- India, Coobin-China, and Japan are entering the market and are there to stay. In

A few years ago the silver and gold dollars were of equal value; now the former is, but two thirds of the latter, Sheetings, sold at the same price to-day as ten years ago so far as gold is concerned, have gone up in value fifty per cent, upon an argentine standard. As there seems no prospect of any great alteration in exchange for years to come, it is obvious that the cottou-mills of the Far East will confinue their course of supplanting those of the West in the markets of the Chinese

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted.
To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-
